Canadian Players To Present "Macbeth" Here Feb. 1st

— Sponsored by the Stake MIA
A hum of activity centered at the Raymond Recorder office this week when the Taylor Stake M.I.A. swung into action, to sponsor the Canadian Players in their production of Shakespeare's "Macbeth" at the Raymond Recreation center Wednesday February 1st at 8 p.m.

"Macbeth" is probably one of Shakespeare's better known plays and the Douglas Campbell production throws a new and brilliant light on familiar characters. Playing the title role as well as directing, Campbell's interpretation of Macbeth is that of a highly imaginative man who has great ability as a soldier and is goaded almost beyond endurance by his wife. Douglas Campbell, himself a Scot was a Star with the London's old Vic before coming to Raymond.

Reed Walker Weds Utah Girl

The L. D. S. Temple at Logan, Utah, December 19th was the scene of the wedding of Miss Marilyn Call daughter of U. S. Marshall and Mrs. Howard Call of Salt Lake City, and Reed Harris Walker, son of Mrs. Fanny H. Walker, and the late Pres. James H. Walker of Raymond. President George Raymond, president of the Logan Temple officiated at the ceremony. Five other couples were married at the temple that morning, and one of the brides was a missionary companion of Miss Call and was also named "Marilyn".

Miss Call is a graduate of the LSAC of Logan and is a teacher in the Salt Lake City Schools. She has fulfilled a mission for the L. D. S. Church to the East Central States, and was a missionary companion of Miss Jolayne Dahl of Raymond.

Pictures Of The Fire That Destroyed Sugar City Motors

Thursday, January 5

The first of a series of pictures taken within minutes after the building was torn by the explosion. The car in the foreground was later moved to safety.

The propane escaping from the one tank makes a blow torch, both at the top and back. Close observation will show how the other tank was torn asunder by the explosion. The heat, even from this distance, was terrific.

Taken from the Town gravel pile, this shows the fire eating away at two cars behind the garage. The heat was so intense that the removal of the cars was impossible. The car closest to the building was owned by George Kokosky, mechanic at the garage, who, although present at the time of the explosion, escaped injury. The Consul was owned by Jack Mehew.

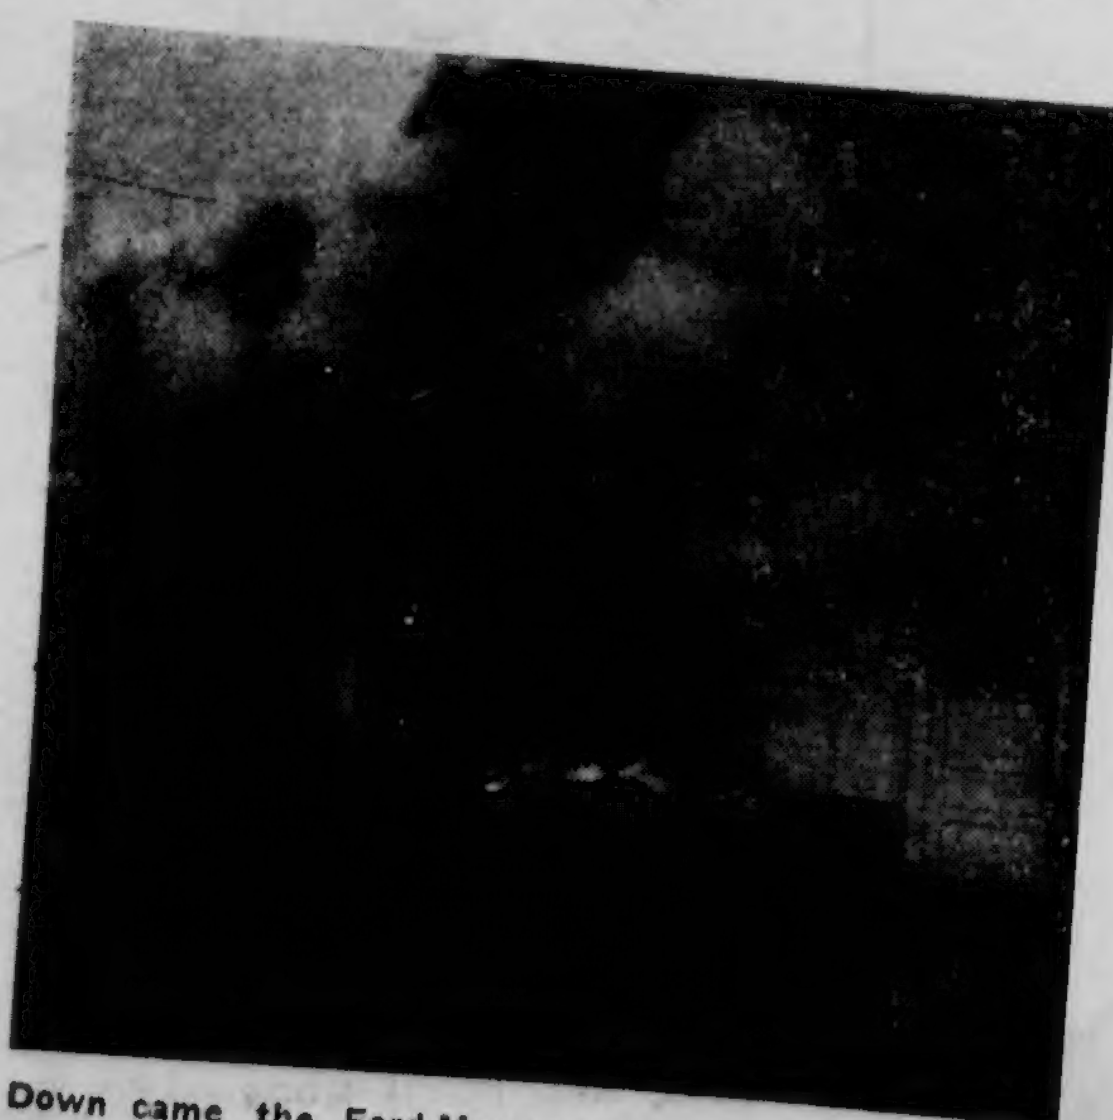

Fire Chief Bill Hague directs the firemen at the front of the building. The excellent work of the whole Volunteer Fire Department saved the fire from becoming one of the worst in Southern Alberta's history, by confining the blaze to the immediate building.

Mayor Taylor and Bill Hague confer about procedure. Unidentified man in the foreground illustrates how bitter the north west wind was. Mel Dewey braves the weather to get a close up view of the fire. Also in the background is the ladder used by the fire men who kept the embers from starting fires on the neighboring buildings.

Firemen hose the front of the building to check the fire spread. Had the gasoline tanks exploded many people would have been severely injured and the damage toll would have been much greater.

Down came the Ford Monarch sign above the front door. It has been said, ironically enough, that there were still whole bottles of pop in the machine just inside the office door.

Jack Mehew, co-owner of the building, and daughter, Connie Cox, watch in anguish from across the street as the fire completely wrecks the structure. Pictures by Max Hamilton

Mrs. R. W. Tollestrup had a pleasant time on her birthday, Tues. Jan. 3rd. Her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Zobel came in the morning to spend the day in comfortable surroundings, visiting and reminiscing with Ethel and Rudolph.

In the afternoon LaRosa Kirkham and Lavon Dahl came in to greet their mother and to wish her Many Happy Returns of the Day.

Later on other callers came bearing good wishes—Opal Wiggill and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Tollestrup.

Mr. and Mrs. Doral Stone and family spent Monday afternoon and evening on Boxing Day visiting in Warden at the Jack Morton home. Mrs. Stone and Mrs. Morton are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Court and family of Castlegar, B. C. were week-end visitors at the Harry Robinson home.

The David Court family joined the Tom Rudd family at the latter's home for a Christmas get-together when visiting and exchanging of gifts took place. A lovely lunch was served.

The Courts returned the hospitality on Tuesday evening when both families enjoyed a very happy time playing games singing songs and partaking of a delightful lunch.

The Busy Bees held their Christmas Party at the home of Mrs. Marion Palmer. High and Low prizes for the Rook game in progress, went to Annie Adams and Violet Christensen respectively.

The high-light of the evening was the exchange of Christmas gifts.

A vote of thanks was offered to the past year's officers, Lenore Dainard, President, and Annie Adams, Secretary. New executive officers are Vera Dawley and June West, President and Secretary.

The worthy project of this Club is the making of quilts and cutting and sewing of rag rugs for the members.

Returning from a trip to Utah where they spent the Christmas holidays visiting with relatives and friends, are Mr. and Mrs. Heber F. Allen and Viola Wing.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Card and Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Wood entertained jointly at the home of the former, when about 22 guests sat down at a beautifully appointed table to a very delicious turkey dinner.

After dinner the guests relaxed and enjoyed an evening of television.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hardy of Taber called at Raymond and took Mrs. Verland Leavitt with them to Calgary where they visited at the home of their sister and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Le Grand Piegrass.

A New Year party was held at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hicken with a number of Raymond people in attendance. The evening was spent in visiting and a jolly sing song took place.

The various synthetics now used for making sweaters require special care, says Gladys Meloche, clothing specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

These fibres are blended with wool, worsted, rayon and cashmere or used by themselves. Each brings special qualities to the garment.

Acrylics feel soft, washes easily, dries quickly and snaps back to shape. Moths and mildew won't affect it during summer months.

Orlon washes easily, also, but special care is needed while the sweater is wet or it will stretch out of shape.

On New Years Day, while riding on his bicycle to attend Sunday School Carlisle Litchfield had the misfortune to slip on the ice and break his already injured leg. He was taken to the Raymond hospital for medical attention. The doctors found the bone to be badly splintered which necessitated a great deal of repair work before the leg was put in a cast. He will be in the hospital for several weeks and then will be confined to his home. He will be unable to report for work for quite some time.

Mr. Litchfield is a school teacher by profession and has taught at the Woolf Creek Hutterite Colony School for a number of years.

Mrs. Zelda Wooley has taken over the responsibility of teaching at the Colony until such time as Mr. Litchfield will be able to resume his duties.

The three principal classes of poetry are epic, dramatic and lyric.

For Christmas Mr. and Mrs. Winston Shaw entertained her sisters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nilsson of Rosemary and Mr. and Mrs. Parley Meldrum Jr. of Raymond.

What's the story behind your wallpaper? How do Canadian artists get inspiration or ideas for new designs each year to keep pace with the changing tastes and decorative trends demanded by Canadian housewives?

Interviews with some of the leading designers of Canadian wallpaper reveal that the answers are frequently found in such common-place items as the living room rug, kitchen pots and pans or even vegetables from the garden.

Sometimes the headlines in your newspaper provide the answer. Reports of flying saucers coming in from every corner of Canada gave the inspiration for Space Travel, a timely topic that stirs the imagination of any red-blooded Canadian youngster. For the teenager, there is Stock Car Racing, Calgary Stampede and other similar subjects.

For individuality in the decorator's tastes throughout the home, pattern subjects are "stylized." For example a drinking glass, shattered beyond recognition, may have been the inspiration for the sophisticated wallpaper design in your living room.

A picture postcard formed the basic design for one of the popular patterns. An Italian postcard showing a rooster was re-styled in a light, sketchy design using the same black and gold colorings as the original. The effect, on wallpaper, is the most unusual.

"Stepping Out", a unique novelty pattern, was adapted from a poodle found on a drinking glass. The poodle now on wallpaper is shown shaving, powdering his nose, combing his hair and generally getting "pretty" for a party.

Popular fabrics are responsible for the many elegant "texture" papers. "Harris Tweed", is simulated to the incomparable cloth made in the Hebrides. Broadloom, as well as a wallpaper pattern, enables home owners to have wall to wall treatment from floor to ceiling.

Scenic patterns, popular across the Dominion, are frequently obtained from holiday trips, photographs or the artist's own imagination. Fine examples of these are the Rocky and Laurentian mountain designs, and the Manhattan Skyline. An Old Mill pattern is another. This scene was modified by an old-world gilt frame and a tweed pattern background to offset the heavy design.

Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" has been interpreted on wallpaper to tell the story of Alice and the fabulous characters she dreamed all about. Each scene has been drawn in such a comprehensive style that even the youngest members of the family can grasp its meaning.

Not all the designs, by any means, are "copies". Many of the wallpaper treatments are artists doodles, developed by a vivid imagination with no direct bearing on any natural form. Such a pattern is illusion, the height and width of the lines, in block treatment, have received a third visual dimension by a clever arrangement of lines and shadows accented with gold.

The Child Psychology Club met on Wednesday at the home of Kay Rolfsen with twenty members in attendance.

The year-end business was taken care of by the outgoing executive, which included Ruth Gibb as Pres.; Nonsave Jones, Vice, and Phillipa Meeks as Secretary. For the coming year Vi Meeks will act as President of the Club with Velma Redd as Vice President and Virginia Holmes as Secretary.

Inez Hicken very capably gave the lesson from the Text Book by Norman Vincent Peale. A wonderful lunch was served by the hostess Mrs. Rolfsen.

On December 29th, 1955 a beautiful baby daughter, Diane, came to make her home with Mr. and Mrs. Brent Jensen and little brother Richard, age two years.

Getting along on four hours sleep at night is nothing to boast about. With such inadequate time allowed for the body to rest and the mind to relax, fatigue may be induced. The average person usually needs eight hours sleep or more according to age, physical condition and occupation. However, these short-period sleepers may not realize that they fall asleep for odd moments during the day, especially if they are well up in years. It is wiser for the individual to find out just how much sleep seems to agree with him and then keep to a regular schedule for retiring and rising.

CANADIAN PLAYERS PRESENT

ing to Canada to play in the Stratford Shakespearean Festival for 1953, 1954 and 1955 seasons. He brings with him the knowledge acquired through many years' training and hard work in the rigorous and highly competitive British Theater. He is now making Canada his home.

Lady Macbeth is played by Frances Hyland of Regina Saskatchewan, who after several years' study and work at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London and the West End Theatre, returned to Canada in 1954 to play opposite James Mason in the Ontario Shakespearean Festival production of "Measure for Measure." In this production of "Macbeth" Lady Macbeth is not the aggressive character which is so often portrayed. She is rather a woman of great beauty who irritates her husband into action rather than gives him her courage. For Francis Hyland star of the 1955 Tour of Canadian players this tour marks a new point in her career she has received great acclaim on both sides of the border for her role as Lady Macbeth and was recently chosen Actress of the year for Canada. During this tour she will return to her native west for her first professional appearance since leaving home. Miss Hyland was recently married to George McCowan who is also a member of the cast.

In Campbell's production the actors and Shakespeare's words bring out the full depth of the tragedy unhampered by the Victorian trapping of more conventional productions. To attain and maintain the dramatic standards required each member of the Canadian players is an actor not only of the highest ability but also of the greatest versatility.

The verse of the Play is full of wild strange illusion on things felt rather than things seen. In the Canadian Players production nothing is added to detract from the inward struggle of Macbeth. Under Campbell's direction Lady Macbeth is a woman with a hard small soul neurotic to a frightening degree who goads Macbeth into the terrifying murders he eventually perpetrates.

The vivid portrayal of the character of Macbeth and his wife is the pivot upon which this production hinges and amongst the supporting cast are many of Canada's finest and best known artists. The whole production is closely knit and moves swiftly towards the climax which is the outcome of Macbeth's fevered mind.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Christensen entertained eighteen guests at a Christmas party last week.

Approximately 13 % of the people living in Alberta in 1905 were alive to celebrate the 1955 golden jubilee ceremonies.

The figures released today by the Alberta Golden Jubilee Committee indicate that 23,628 persons have received senior citizen scrolls, signifying their residence in Alberta during or prior to 1905. The population of the province in 1905 was about 185,000.

The distribution of senior citizen scrolls has now been completed, even though applications will be honored until the end of the year. An average of 15 applications a day continue to trickle in.

J.E. Piewes, administrator of the golden jubilee, urges anyone who lived in Alberta during or before 1905 and is still a resident of the province should make immediate application for a scroll. Requests should be sent to the Alberta Golden Jubilee Committee, Legislative Buildings, Edmonton.

Does an apple a day keep the dentist away? That's what the school of dentistry in Liverpool, England, is going to try to find out. It will soon begin a two or three year experiment on local school children, some of whom will be given an apple a day and some not.

The William C. Stone family held a Christmas Party re-union in the Raymond Canadian Legion Hall with 44 members sitting down at 2 pm to a delicious turkey dinner and all the good things that usually accompany it.

After dinner the guests received and opened their Christmas presents. During the afternoon and evening under the direction of Gordon and Doral, young and old engaged in the playing of such games as Bingo, table tennis, pool and other games. Pictures were also taken of family groups and of the complete family, with the exception of four from out of town who were unable to attend.

Those present from Raymond and at the head of the family of four generations were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stone and the families of LeRoi, Ken Doral and Gordon. Out of town members were Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Elliot and son Darrel, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Mohr and son, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Loos and baby daughter and Dorothy Stone all of Calgary, Allwyn Stone and son Jack of Picture Butte, Mr. and Mrs. Garth Peterson and son David of Portland Oregon, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lewis of Lethbridge, and F. Big, Big Business

Everybody works for a profit. And there's some proof for this in the annual wage bill international union chieftans collect for their efforts to down the profit-makers. The top ones: George Harrison, of the Railway Clerks: $60,000.

John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers: $50,000.

David Beck, Teamster Union: $50,000

James Petrillo, Musicians' Union: $46,000.

David McDonald, Steelworkers of America: $40,000.

George Meany, A. F. L. President: $35,000.

There is of course, the added matter of expense accounts which must carry these men through the country annually. That of U. A. W. President, Walter Reuther: $18,000.

Arrange your closet so the things most constantly in use are the most convenient. Don't crowd too much into one closet. Light-colored or delicate fabrics should be placed in dress bags for protection from dust.

School Report

Well, that time of year which every high school student awaits from September 1st has finally come, and gone just like that! But we had fun, didn't we?

To break the monotony of the usual school routine, we tried to get the curling rinks organized. Come time for the bonspiels and we had ought to have everything under control. Next to basketball, this sport has gained its position as the favorite game of the students.

Our art teacher, Mr. Gibb has made his list of New Year Resolutions. On top in capital letters he has written, "I shall have my students begin to paint the windows in October." The windows were all finished before Christmas, however and if you saw them I'm sure you'll agree they looked real "zorch".

The holidays were welcomed with a rollicking smorgasbord, put on by the student body and under the direction of the school presidency. A good time was had by all. When all the food had finally been eaten (and it was terribly delicious) an hour recess was held before the dance commenced. This was to avoid any altercations. Besides by the time that four months of school have been completed, everyone, especially the teachers are about ready for a case of ulcers and there's no use in hurrying it up any!

During the week the only school activities were the Tanner Trophy games. Our A-Team again proved their ability when they trounced the Lethbridge Rams defeating them by five points. The rest of the holidays were spent at home where everyone enjoyed a blissful recuperation.

But it's all over for another year and we're all so very glad to be back to school again, aren't we?

— Evelyn Sabey

The United States does more long distance telephoning than any other country. With six per cent of the world's population, the U. S. has almost 60 % of the world's telephones and last year made more than two billion long distance calls.

The annual New Year's Eve party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Keeler was as usual full of pranks, and pranksters who enjoyed the delightful turkey dinner provided the Bill Nalders, Jim Heningers, Gordon Stones, Max Hamiltons, Claude Bakers, Bob Brandleys, Ruth Walker, Barbara Macphee and Gordon Andersons.

After hats were created from wall paper, ribbon and ingenuity, and a few ties were trimmed in the latest vogue (much to the consternation of the spectators), the group left for the dance amid the blowing of horns and the clatter of rattles.

Tantrums
When a small child around two years of age indulges in tantrums, it may mean that he is getting insufficient sleep or that his meals are not arriving punctually. The child who is overtired or hungry may not be expected to be on his best behavior. A series of Child Training folders, available on request from local or provincial health departments, deals with many aspects of child health and behavior.

Nippy Cheese Topping for Pie - Instead of serving sliced cheese with your next apple or mince pie, you may enjoy serving this cheese sauce. Serve it warm. Make it in a double boiler over low heat, stirring constantly. Melt 1 tablespoon butter or margarine and blend with 1 tablespoon flour. Add 1/2 cup milk and cook until thick. Add 1 cup grated, sharp Cheddar cheese. When cheese is blended and sauce is smooth, it's ready. It is even more appetite-tempting if the pie is hot.
